How it works

Print only what you need

1

This journal PRINT ONCE

Your travel record: map, bucket list, trip index, people and places, vehicle check, safety and first aid.

2

Trip kit ONE PER TRIP

Ten pages: cover, route plan, bookings, meal plan, groceries, budget, fuel log, keepsakes and a trip review. Choose from six cover photos.

3

Day pages ONE SHEET PER DAY

Planning on the front, journal on the back. A weekend away needs 3 sheets, a three-week trip needs 21. Write in the day and trip numbers.

4

Packing lists FRESH FOR EACH TRIP

Caravan and camping (what to pack, and what stays packed to check), self-catering accommodation, and documents, day bag and leaving home.

PRINTING TIPS

- Print the files that match your paper (A4, A5 or US Letter) at actual size (100%), double-sided, flipping on the long edge.
- The wider inner margin leaves room to punch holes for a ring or disc binder.
- Long trip? Print the route plan or meal plan page from the trip kit again (pages 2 and 4).
- Keep each trip together: trip kit first, then the day pages in order, then the review.

NOTES

Staying safe

On the road and at camp

ON THE ROAD

- Share your route and expected arrival time with someone at home.
- Plan to arrive before dark.
- Keep valuables out of sight, and doors locked at stops and in traffic.
- Keep the tank above a quarter, and carry drinking water and snacks.

AT CAMP

- Lock valuables away at night.
- Keep food sealed and out of reach of monkeys and baboons, and never feed wildlife.
- Find out where the nearest help is when you arrive.
- Put fires out completely before bed or leaving.

IN PARKS AND WILD AREAS

- Stay in your vehicle except at marked spots.
- Keep to speed limits and gate times.
- Give animals plenty of space, and never get between a mother and her young.

HEALTH

- Check if you are going to a malaria area, and see a doctor or travel clinic before you go.
- Drink plenty of water in hot weather.
- Use sunscreen, a hat and insect repellent.

BORDERS

- Check border post opening hours before you set off.
- Carry passports, vehicle papers and any permits you need.
- Keep copies of documents separate from the originals.

Basic first aid

Quick reminders

Get help first. These notes are reminders, not training. A first-aid course before a big trip is well worth it.

Bleeding

Press firmly on the wound with a clean pad or cloth and keep pressing. Raise the injured part if you can. Get medical help if bleeding is heavy or won't stop.

Burns

Cool under cool running water for at least 20 minutes. Remove rings or tight items nearby. Cover loosely with cling film or a clean non-fluffy dressing. No ice, butter or creams, and don't burst blisters.

Snakebite

Keep the person calm and as still as possible. Remove rings, watches and shoes near the bite. Don't cut, suck or use home remedies. Get to hospital fast and note the time of the bite. Don't try to catch the snake. Venom in the eyes: rinse with plenty of clean water, don't rub, and see a doctor.

Ticks

Remove with fine tweezers, gripping close to the skin, and pull out steadily. If fever, headache or a rash follow in the next two weeks, see a doctor and mention the bite.

Heat

Move to shade, loosen clothing, sip water and cool the skin with damp cloths. Confusion, very hot skin or collapse can mean heatstroke: get emergency help.

Stings

Scrape a bee sting out sideways and use a cold compress. Swelling of the face or lips, or trouble breathing, is an emergency.

Not responding

Call for emergency help. If the person isn't breathing normally, start CPR if you are trained.

Every road has a story. Write yours down.

An undated travel journal for people who travel often: plan the route, book the campsites, sort the meals and the budget, then keep a daily record of where you went, what you saw and who you met.

- A trip kit for every trip
- Self-catering meal plans
- Packing and vehicle checklists
- Route plans, bookings and permits
- Budgets and a fuel log
- Safety tips and basic first aid
